I know many people seem to have a problem with this game (moral and gameplay wise) but I have to admit that this game has been quite entertaining so far.

Pros:

- The art style is really really nice!
- Variety of "daughters" you can make (Which are all interesting! Nice designs and interactions)
- It's not too short
- Story is pretty fine (It's nothing spectacular, but I enjoyed it)
- Quite a few "endings"
- Interesting dark setting

Cons:

- Somewhat repetitive (Gameplay wise)
- Grinding, I guess? (I personally don't mind it, but some might have an issue with that)
- Getting to certain endings can be... hard... and might take some time
- If you don't like dark stuff and you are sensitive, you won't like this game

It all depends on if you like these types of games. I personally enjoyed the game a lot and would recommend it.. PSA: This is a kinetic novel. As in you don't get to make choices, it's not a choose your own story type of game. You just sit back and read. Not that that's bad or anything, but I bought it thinking it would be more of visual novel where you get to make decisions that affect the story outcome. Bad on me for not reading more about the game, but I did like the artwork and the wild west setting intrigued me since there aren't any other games like this that I am aware of. Though hard to classify this as a "game" if there is no interactivity other than clicking to turn the digital page, if you will. I am going to try streaming it to my Shield later on in the bathtub. :D Oh and if you like this, check out Highway Blossoms, it has a western ish vibe though more modern. Also both games have yuri vibes which I dig on. :). What kind of moron design a game that is so fast that you can't play? Even on easy the AI just leave you eating dust, unless you buy the best ships, or make all the upgrades.. Broken Reality is a first-person adventure with a vaporwave theme. You gather powers through items such as a liker which allows you to interact with things, a sword to slash viruses and a cursor to click on windows that will transport you to them.

You explore an online world with sub-areas called servers, with many different users and characters.

The Pros:

- A unique vaporwave aesthetic, which is rarely seen in games.
- An accessible game experience with interesting puzzles that give you those "aha!" moments we all love.
- A killer soundtrack that sport the various sub-genres of vaporwave.

The Cons:

- Has some level design flaws. Not everything is properly telegraphed, and it feels confusing. Figuring something out eventually doesn't seem rewarding, just makes you a bit annoyed. However, it's not riddled with bad level design. It's just the bad part are particularly bad.
- Confusing objectives. It's not always clear what you have to do. It's not so bad that you have to look at a guide, but I sometimes asked myself "was I supposed to do it that way?"

The best level in my opinion is the one called GeoCity. It has a pleasing atmosphere with calming music with an obvious reference to a known vaporwave album.

The worst level is surprisingly the last one. I was confused almost constantly, and bears the problems mentioned in the Cons. It's also the worst looking one, and it hurt my eyes after a while. It felt more like it was just a bad aesthetic, and not the intentionally slightly old and crappy aesthetic that vaporwave is known for. While the last level is bad, the ending sequence of the game is one of the best parts. I don't want to spoil it, it's really good.

All in all, if you like or love vaporwave, you will most likely like this game. It's one of the few full vaporwave games out there and took me around 6.5 hours to complete on my first playthrough. I did play the demo and knew what to do in the first level, so a completely blind run might take 7-7.5 hours to complete.

It's a rare, full vaporwave experience. Get it now if you are even remotely interested.. fov is a bit cramped but got used it..

but honestly, why is lvl 4 harder than 5 and 6?

Short game but very fun. The puzzles were some times challenging but that makes it worth it. I liked this game.. I've played this game since the alpha version

I really love it pls add more campaign map and add a 1 pixel-lower top hat. s of Fun!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!! Good products except for the headlights barely work. Unless there's a reliable fix, don't drive at night too much.... Very Unique and fun to play, and for 99cents it's a steal!. cool 10min experience

beautifully rendered

but 10$ is simply too much... i cant recommend this...

there are free experiences that are as interesting or even better. As someone who uses Banana Farms in every game, it's nice to see something new and fresh, don't know about the full price though.. i got it at 40% off as a new release, this was worth for me.. A pretty solid puzzle game with time bending mechanics very reminiscent of Dark Cloud 2. However, the short length and unremarkable story make the asking price of $4.99 hard to swallow. Get it on sale or in a bundle for sure.. This is a pretty intense game, though not as scary as I initially expected. Make no mistake, this game will scare a lot of people. Check out the reaction videos online to see what I mean. That said, after playing the game for a while, it's more of an action game than horror.

It's the kind of game that looks completely different in VR, so you really have to experience it to know what it's like. It's not the longest game in the world, but it is pretty unique. The graphics are good, and it's well made.

**Be careful not to step on the cord for the headset. You'll be turning around a lot, and if you do step on the cord and pull it out of its box, you won't be able to see, and (as of the time of writing this) the game does not pause when the headset is disconnected. If you're on the last wave of a level, and lose because you pulled out the cord, and have to start over, it's pretty frustrating. Hopefully they'll fix that later.. This game had potential but after buying it me and my buddy who also baught the game cant connect to each other to play together, total waste like this
